Dear DNR--

I understand Racine wants to pump 7 million gallons daily from Lake Michigan, and that this relates to the FoxConn project. I would request that thorough, environmental and social impact studies, if not done already, would be performed, comparing this to places embodying best practices. If it doesn't meet up to tough current standards for sustainability, and projected positive impact on the community, don't do it. If these concerns are handily met, then I hope you will work out details with a thorough engagement of the community affected.

Sincerely,
