To The DNR:

How interesting that it took almost an "Act of God" to OK Waukesha's drawing of Lake Michigan water for their population. Every state and province around the lakes had to have a say in it. Then again, it is planned that water will be returned to the lake. If the Foxconn area is also outside of the Great Lakes Basin, why, just a snap of the fingers now, seems to make this OK?

700 million gallons a day for TV and other screens....unbelievable use for our precious Great Lakes water! But, for people's health it was a difficult decision. THIS should be the difficult decision! I am totally against it.

Sincerely, A. Johnson
