I strongly oppose allowing the Foxconn project to move ahead for the following reasons. It is time we rely on science and rules as were written without pressure from politicians seeking to advance personal agendas and donor agendas.

1. This facility is not in the Great Lakes Basic as stipulated by the Great Lakes Compact.

2. The water delivered to Mount Pleasant will not be diverted for public consumption, as required by the Great Lakes Compact, but rather to a private, foreign corporation for profit. What part of that makes sense? or seems to be aligned to the GLC?

3. Based upon Foxconn's own admission, 40% of the water will not be returned to the lake. This represents a significant loss and again, violates the GLC

4. Rules are not in place for how the water will be managed, treated, or used. Why does a foreign company get to skip by without the same permitting that Wisconsin companies must adhere to. This is ludicrous.

5. This is not even going to be a huge job creator for Wisconsin. The location alone suggests that many of the workers will come from Illinois.

I understand you are under huge pressure to let this happen - but this is just a tiny tip of the iceberg that will follow if you do. Surely the DNR understands the implications of this better than the governor chooses to. You need to represent the people of the state, not the political will of the governor. Stand strong.
