Subject:	Comments on Racine water diversion application

I would like to register my opposition to the city of Racine's request to divert additional Great Lakes water to Mt Pleasant for the primary purpose of serving the Foxconn development.

The compact specifies that "Public Water Supply Purposes" serve a "group of largely residential customers that may also serve industrial, commercial, and other institutional operators". It seems obvious in this case that given the vast scale of the increase in withdrawal (7 million gallons per day) the vast majority of this diversion is to serve a single industrial operator and not a group of residential customers. There is no exception in the Compact made for diverting additional water to straddling communities for the purpose of industry or industrial development. Therefore, the application from the city of Racine should be denied as it is not in the best interest of all of us who rely on the Great Lakes for our source of drinking water.

Sincerely,
Jason Jahn
