to whom it may or may not concern:

Are we really going to destroy our Great Lake to make some jobs? Jobs that will eventually be replaced by robots. It's not worth it... I can't wait to drink all that returned water from the super clean factory!

I remember the days when the DNR actually cared about conservation, it wasn't that long ago. I wish they still had a spine and did. I can't wait to hear my father complain even more about how the fishing is getting worse, but money talks!

Please don't grant Foxconn the access it "wants" from our natural resource.

I'll await a canned non human emotionless response. Thanks.
