I strongly oppose the Racine Diversion Application which seeks to divert millions of gallons of water per day from Lake Michigan to the Diversion Area. All 7 million gallons to be diverted are not for public use. Rather, all 7 million gallons are needed for Foxconn, a private TV screen manufacturer. In the future, it is anticipated that additional water will be needed for other commercial businesses, including suppliers of Foxconn. Those additional commercial businesses are not "public entities." There are no plans for any public entities to be operated in the Diversion Area. Such diversion would not be in keeping with the intent of the Great Lakes Compact.

It is obvious the DNR has already made its decision since Mount Pleasant and Racine are moving forward with installing water lines. The corruption surrounding this project is sickening.
