I am writing to express my great concerns about the quality of Lake Michigan if FoxConn is allowed to start up.

I can't understand how legislators can say that Lake Michigan is able to absorb the quanity of water loss needed to run this type of glass production. How do we know this? We should be leaving the Lake in it's natural state and allow water usage for public NOT PRIVATE in this capacity.

I also have concerns of what chemicals and pollution would be allowed to be put back in the lake. I do not trust the water filtration system based on what I have seen at their factories in China. Why would it be any different here?

I also have concerns on the impact of such a huge factory in place of farm fields, natural woods and trees. The whole area will become a huge environmental catastrophy of cement and asphalt.

Our State & Federal EPA are not the agencies and watchdogs for our planet they should be.

I am expressing that Lake Michigan water should be left alone and for public use only.
