To Whom it May Concern,

It is my hope that the Wisconsin DNR will deny the request for water diversion from Lake Michigan to supply the Foxconn plant. This diversion creates a damaging precedent that should not be allowed. The Great Lakes are not only far more valuable as a tourism draw than they could ever be for environmentally damaging manufacturing purposes but they are the source of drinking water for a great many families and vulnerable children. That should be the first concern of our government.

Thank you
