Environmental Management Division - Remediation and Redevelopment Program

A Voluntary Party Liability Exemption (VPLE) follows a thorough environmental investigation and cleanup at a contaminated property. This fee-based option provides a limit on future liability for the contamination. The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) issues the liability exemption in the form of a Certificate of Completion, which can be passed along to new owners of the property. The certificate can help with real estate transactions where prospective purchasers have concerns about contamination by assuring them the entire property has been cleaned up to the satisfaction of DNR. Statutory authority of the VPLE is in ss.292.15, Wis. Stats. In the rare instance where more than one Certificate of Completion was issued for a property, the most recent Certificate date will be shown.

Environmental Management Division - Remediation and Redevelopment Program

A Voluntary Party Liability Exemption (VPLE) follows a thorough environmental investigation and cleanup at a contaminated property. This fee-based option provides a limit on future liability for the contamination. The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) issues the liability exemption in the form of a Certificate of Completion, which can be passed along to new owners of the property. The certificate can help with real estate transactions where prospective purchasers have concerns about contamination by assuring them the entire property has been cleaned up to the satisfaction of DNR. Statutory authority of the VPLE is in ss.292.15, Wis. Stats. In the rare instance where more than one Certificate of Completion was issued for a property, the most recent Certificate date will be shown.

Environmental Management Division - Remediation and Redevelopment Program

A Voluntary Party Liability Exemption (VPLE) follows a thorough environmental investigation and cleanup at a contaminated property. This fee-based option provides a limit on future liability for the contamination. The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) issues the liability exemption in the form of a Certificate of Completion, which can be passed along to new owners of the property. The certificate can help with real estate transactions where prospective purchasers have concerns about contamination by assuring them the entire property has been cleaned up to the satisfaction of DNR. Statutory authority of the VPLE is in ss.292.15, Wis. Stats. In the rare instance where more than one Certificate of Completion was issued for a property, the most recent Certificate date will be shown.
