Meeting Information

DNR staff and the Langlade County Land Records and Regulations Director were available for questions throughout the open house time frame. Physical copies of the 91 map panels were available for viewing as well as an ArcGIS project which displayed the current effective georeferenced paper maps from 1990 if community members wanted to see how the maps have changed. There were questions on engineering methods, LiDAR, Zone AE versus A, and whether previous floods were considered as the City of Antigo experienced a significant flood in 2004.
