

Remote sensing reflectance spectrum for a stained lake

Remote sensing reflectance spectrum for the Spirit River Flowage acquired on 07/21/2015. This remote sensing reflectance spectrum is typical for some of the stained lakes and their high concentrations of CDOM in northern Wisconsin (NAP – non-algal particles, CDOM – colored dissolved organic matter, and TSM – total suspended matter).